Farmers Suffer Enormous Loss

According to a bulletin recently issued by the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture, weeds will cost the farmers of the Province more than thirty million dollars this year, in the decreased yield due to weeds in the increased cost of harvesting and threshing their grain, in dockage and freight on weeds shipped with the grain to Fort William or Vancouver.

This year when conditions have been so favorable for the growth of grain, they have been equally favorable for the growth of weeds, and sections of Saskatchewan have many square miles of crops grown on some of the richest soil in the Province which have been so yellow with mustard that hardly a blade of wheat could be seen. Wild oats have been worse than ever this year, sow thistle is steadily widening the area where it is a thorn in the side of the farmer, and stink weed is flourishing like the proverbial green bay tree.

If to a thirty million dollar loss for Saskatchewan alone, the losses for Manitoba and Alberta are added, the total loss for the three Prairie Provinces will be between fifty and sixty million at least, easily constituting the heaviest charge levied on Western agriculture. Hail losses have been heavier than usual this year, but they do not begin to approach the losses sustained by farmers through weeds.

For a quarter of a century or more Western farmers have been waging a battle for lower freight rates. They have won notable victories in this regard, not the least of which was the obtaining in the first instance of the Crow's Nest Pass rates on grain and their restoration after they had been abrogated during the war. But the estimated savings to the farmers of the three Prairie Provinces through the Crow's Nest Pass Agreement, running as they do into millions of dollars annually, do not equal the losses sustained by the farmers of Saskatchewan alone through weeds.

A reduction in the Customs tariff on agricultural implements and machinery, or on any one of the many articles necessary to the farmer, is hailed with pleasure as a real relief to the agricultural producer. The practical wiping out of the Income Tax so far as farmers are concerned, the reduction of the postage rate from three cents to two, and other legislative enactments reducing the burden of taxation, are rightly regarded as important in assisting to make farming and all industry more profitable. But these savings are small in comparison to the millions of dollars that would be left in the pockets of Western farmers through a vigorous, persistent, successful fight all along the line against noxious weeds.

The whole country gets stirred up in an election campaign where tax reduction policies are an issue. Farmers unite and organize to place candidates in the field pledged to tariff reductions, reduced freight rates, Rural Credits, and other measures calculated to advance their interests and prosperity. But all too many who wage battle for these lesser gains appear quite indifferent to the weed menace and its resultant heavy losses to themselves and the country at large. Many farmers who are enthusiastic, and organize and fight for those things which they can only obtain in co-operation with the other Provinces of Canada, yet display the most astounding apathy in dealing with a problem which is all their own, and the solution of which rests solely with themselves, working in co-operation with their next door neighbors.

The Saskatchewan Weed Bulletin just issued contains valuable information and guidance for farmers in dealing with their weed problem. It is written in clearly understandable, non-technical language, and every Saskatchewan farmer who has a weed problem on his hands should send to the Department of Agriculture, Regina, for a copy of this Bulletin, while farmers in Manitoba and Alberta should likewise communicate with their Provincial Departments of Agriculture for similar literature.

The Saskatchewan Bulletin states that the greatest source of the weed trouble is found in dirty seed, and it has been proven that quite a large number of farmers who cultivate their soil carefully to destroy weed seeds already existing in the ground, are actually returning the same plant criminals to the soil through weed seeds contained in their seed grain, thus rendering all their toil and labor for naught, perpetuating the problem, and keeping up the loss.

Co-operation amongst Western farmers is accomplishing great things for them and for Canada, and co-operation is capable to achieving even greater things in the years to come. Possibly in no one way can more be accomplished than by each individual farmer enlisting in the war on weeds, and waging it aggressively in season and out on his own land, and in co-operation with his neighbors and municipal officials throughout the whole district in which he resides.

Unlike other wars, which always end in losses for both victor and vanquished, a successful war on weeds means great gains and larger profits throughout the years to come. Let's fight!

Stabilization of Rural Land Values

By C. W. Peterson

No public issue has been the victim of more platitudes than that of immigration on platform and in press. In Canada there seems to be no intelligent public opinion on the question, and our economic groups are consequently hopelessly divided on the issue. Added population merely spells further unemployment to the labor group, and increased competition to the farmer. Hence, we frequently find our great rural organizations unfriendly and even officially antagonistic towards any effort to augment Canada's population.

Public Apathy

An intelligent study of the population question leaves one in no doubt, that lasting agricultural prosperity is not possible without the steady, progressive colonization and development of our extensive vacant spaces by real agricultural settlers. The realization of such a programme would, however, involve a constructive and forward-looking colonization effort of a magnitude no government could safely contemplate today. In view of the apathetic state of average Canadian public opinion on the subject. The superlask confronting Canada at this moment, therefore, would appear to be to convince her own citizens of the wisdom of regarding the population question as the corner stone of all public policies, which, indeed, it is.

Agricultural Unrest

We have for almost a decade been confronted with the demoralizing spectacle of steadily receding rural land values all through Canada. This was the outcome of a combination of circumstances, but has been chiefly due to the cessation of immigration, coupled with the modern spectacular drift to the cities. Land values today, east and west, are at very low ebb, and many farmers have thus seen their chief asset shrink to such an extent that substantial equities have in some instances totally disappeared, representing the loss of the fruits of years of hard labor on the part of every member of the family.

The Agricultural Credit Structure

Land represents the principal borrowing asset of the farmer. Stable land values lie at the foundation of rural credit in practically all its forms. When land values become demoralized the whole agricultural credit structure is undermined. Credit of all sorts is curtailed and interest rates advanced. In fact, it may be laid down as an economic axiom, that a prosperous agriculture and a contented rural population are not within the possibilities with receding and unstable land values. The demoralizing effect in itself upon the farmer of the progressive shrinkage of his chief capital asset is bound to exercise a most unfortunate influence upon his state of mind and actions.

Restoring Agricultural Confidence

There is today a vast area of vacant lands on the market in the prairie section of Canada and improved farms are offered for sale in other provinces comparatively at bargain prices. The demand for such properties slackened perceptibly with the drying-up of the stimulating flow of immigration some years ago. The settlement of the province of Ontario dates back as far as that of the Middle West of the United States. Yet land values in Iowa, Illinois and elsewhere are twice and three times as great as in Eastern Canada. Why? The Canadian farmer should be keenly interested in recreating a normal market for rural properties. A comparatively limited demand for land would quickly be reflected in strengthened values all round and the moral effect would be electrical. Urban business would automatically benefit through such a restoration of agricultural confidence. Our farmers have, therefore, a vital interest in the inauguration of vigorous and comprehensive policies by the various governments and railways designed to promote the actual colonization of vacant agricultural areas.

The Fine Art Of Carving

Lucky Is the Man Who Has Mastered All Its Details

Carving is said to be an art that takes a man a lifetime to master. However that may be, there are good and bad carvers, and one is never so expert but that he may learn some new trick in carving a roast or fowl. There has recently been published a valuable and most entertaining little booklet, entitled "The Fine Art of Carving," which deals with this subject. In addition to giving details regarding the proper methods to be used in carving roasts, joints, fish and fowl, there are also valuable hints for the housewife on how to properly prepare a roast of meat of any kind. The booklet is well illustrated in colors showing how to select the best joints of meat, and how to carve. There is also good advice on how to reduce your meat bill, and how to roast meat without loss from shrinkage, and a great deal of other valuable information. Copies of this booklet may be obtained free of charge by any Canadian householder. Our readers would be well advised to write to the Sheet Metal Products Co. of Canada, Limited, Toronto, or to branch offices at Winnipeg, Calgary, Edmonton or Vancouver, and obtain this valuable booklet, "The Fine Art of Carving," which will be mailed absolutely free of charge.

THE GROWING GIRL

Requires a Mother's Constant Care and Watchfulness

In their early teens it is quite common for girls to outgrow their strength, and mothers should carefully watch the health of their daughters at this time, for it is when strength is sapped by too rapid growth that anaemia develops. The first signs may be noticed by peevishness, languor and headaches. The face grows pale, breathlessness and palpitation follow, with low spirits.

At the first symptom of anaemia mothers should act at once. Neglected anaemia often leads to decline, but if you see that your daughter's blood is enriched there need be no cause for anxiety. The finest blood enricher ever discovered is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The pure, red blood created by these pills will quickly banish all signs of anaemia. They will build up your girl's health and ensure her a robust girlhood. Give your daughter a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now. Make her strong like thousands of girls and women throughout Canada who have been rescued from the clutches of anaemia by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Important Part To Be Played By Canada Following The Rapid Increase In Population

The population of the world is increasing at the rate of 50,000 a day, according to an article by Prof. Edward Murray East, of Harvard University, published in a recent number of "Current History." Prof. East says that, taking the world over, there are on the average 150,000 births and 100,000 deaths in a day, making a net daily gain of 50,000. Prof. East places the present population of the world at 1,850 millions, and says it has more than doubled since the beginning of the nineteenth century.

Statistics are assembled to show that as population in any country reaches a certain density the rate of increase falls off, until it becomes practically stationary. This has already happened in China, and has almost come about in India. Prof. East quotes authorities to the effect that the population of the United States will become stationary at about 200,000,000 and that this figure will be reached in the present century.

An important factor in the population development of the North American continent is Canada, which occupies an area greater than that of the United States, and has at present about 9,000,000 inhabitants. Prof. East finds that population in Canada is increasing rapidly, the birth rate being more than double the death rate. The death rate in Canada is 11.3 per thousand compared with 11.9 in the United States, and the birth rate in Canada is 26.7 per thousand compared with 22.5 in the United States.

Prof. East's calculations do not include the effect of immigration on population. This has been a big factor in the United States in the past, and promises to be equally important in Canada in the near future. The constantly increasing demand for food, and Canada, with only one-fifth of its arable area as yet under cultivation, is destined to play a large part in supplying that demand.

Immigrants From Norway

Farm Laborers Will Come to Settle On Western Lands

Diversion of the stream of immigrant farm labor from the United States to Saskatchewan and Alberta will be recommended by Arne Kildal secretary of the International League of Norsemen, for that class of immigrant labor from Norway. Mr. Kildal, who is on his way back to Norway after a tour of investigation of possibilities for his countrymen in Saskatchewan and Alberta, said the surplus population of Norway, especially surplus farm labor, must find an outlet. He said that the Canadian prairies offered good possibilities for those who wished to settle down to a life of farming.

Representing the Government of Norway and Sweden, a delegation reached Winnipeg recently to investigate conditions of land settlement for immigrants, price of land, conditions of employment, co-operative marketing of grain, and the Canadian system of soldier re-establishment. As a result of these investigations it is possible that there will be a settlement in Western Canada of 12,000 Norwegians per year in the future. The party is in charge of P. Myrvold, representative of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Oslo, Norway.

Disproves Old Saying

No Such Thing As Wet and Dry Moon Says Weather Bureau

The moon has nothing to do with rainfall, and there is no such thing as a wet and dry moon, the U. S. weather bureau declares. Recent investigations have disproved the old saying that the moon is wet if it hangs as though pouring out something, and dry if the points of the crescent are turned up. According to this saying the equator should be always dry, whereas the region is notorious for heavy rains.

Noticing that a good deal of attention is being paid to the statement that when the Prince of Wales was at Oxford he did not have to stand examination, we feel called upon to remark that he was always a lucky chap.

Cleaning the Milking Machine

Machine Should Be Thoroughly Cleaned Directly After Milking

The primal necessity of milking is cleanliness. Mr. A. G. Lockhead, Dominion bacteriologist, writing on the subject of the milking machine, points out that the sooner the cleaning of the machine is commenced after milking the more efficient it will be. Directly the cow is finished with, our authority advises that the teat-cups should be drawn through the unit, the cups being lifted up and down to allow air as well as water to pass through. The cups and tubes should next be treated with hot water to which has been added a dairy cleaning powder. This can be done, says the bacteriologist, in the most recent number of Seasonable Hints, with the suction on as before, or by removing from the machine and cleansing in a sink or suitable basin, using brushes to clean the passages. Clean hot water should be used for the final rinsing and the whole system should be thoroughly flushed. Where there is danger of water getting into the air passages a wooden plug should be put in the open end after removal from the machine. Once a week the teat-cups and tubes should be taken completely apart and thoroughly brushed, a cleaning powder being used, and reassembled when dry.

Insurance Against T.B. Test

Satisfactory Scheme Has Been Tried Out In Wisconsin

In a few districts in Wisconsin a satisfactory arrangement has been worked out to cover the loss from cattle which react to the tuberculin test. The proposition has been arranged through the co-operative creameries. Men who have not tested their cattle put $1.00 per head into a fund. This is used to pay owners of cattle the difference between their appraised value and the total which is received by the owner from salvage and indemnities. If this amount is not sufficient to cover the entire loss the money is prorated. If any money remains after all the losses are paid it is prorated back to the men who contributed.

Owners of pure-bred cattle contribute twice as much as grade cattle owners on account of the higher valuations. This system has given good satisfaction in communities where it has been tried, as it provides a simple form of insurance which enables the owners to replace their herds if they have a heavy loss. Generally a committee of the creamery members is placed in charge of the work and the necessary funds are collected through the creamery in one or two payments.

Stubble Treatment

Best Results Obtained After Burning Stubble in the Spring

An experiment to determine the best method of treating the stubble in preparation for wheat or oats at the Scott, Sask., Dominion experimental station showed that the highest average yield of wheat had been obtained from seeding after burning the stubble in spring and the second highest yield after spring ploughing. The ten-year average figures showed a difference of 2.7 bushels per acre in favor of spring ploughing as compared with fall ploughing. General results indicate that any operation that destroys the stubble in the fall, so that the snow is not held, has resulted in a reduction of yield. Figures for 1925 given in the superintendent's report for that year show that deep fall cultivation is giving a higher yield than shallow fall cultivation. Stubbling in without any cultivation has given the lowest yield of all the treatment under test.

In comparing fall and spring ploughing for oats the eleven-year average yield shows a difference of 3.4 bushels in favor of the spring ploughing.

You seldom see two fat people married to each other says an observer, because usually one of the pair gets fat by being cheerful and the other gets thin doing all the fat one's share of this life's worrying.

Many Countries Buy Products

Prairie Provinces Among the Leading Producers of Dairy Products

Canadian dairy products, like Canadian wheat and produce from the farms of the Dominion, are being purchased in increasing quantities by the housewife in the United States and 21 other countries of the world, according to a recent statement issued by the Canadian Government. The principal purchases of dairy products from Canada by American buyers is in the form of cream and milk, the latest compilation showing exports to Uncle Sam totalling $7,500,000 in value for the 12 months ended June 30, 1926.

The annual production of the dairy factories of Canada now has a total value of $141,133,000, an increase of over $29,000,000 in five years.

Production of creamery butter in Canada last year was the largest in the history of the industry, amounting to 179,922,993 pounds, valued at $66,923,456. These figures show an increase over 1924 of more than one million pounds in quantity, and over six million dollars in value.

Increases of nearly 30 million pounds in quantity and over twelve million dollars in value are also shown in last year's production of factory cheese, as compared with 1924. The quantity made in 1925 totalled 178,350,346 pounds, valued at $36,781,343.

The prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, famous mainly as great grain growing areas, are now among the leading producers of dairy products.

Immigration To Canada

Almost Double the Number of People Entering Canada Compared to Last Year

Immigration to Canada in the first six months of 1926 totalled 70,253 compared with 43,241 in the same period a year ago, an increase of 62 per cent., according to a statement by the Canadian Government department of immigration and colonization. In this period under review British immigrations increased from 20,452 to 27,849; immigration from the United States increased from 6,036 to 10,027 and from other countries increased from 14,753 to 32,367.

Immigration for the month of June amounted to 12,191, an increase of 50 per cent. over June a year ago. British immigration for June increased from 3,501 to 2,177; and other immigration from 2,052 to 4,074.

Eight-seven distinct dialects are spoken in the Philippine Islands. English is now the dominant language, having supplanted Spanish.

Could Increase Wheat Yield From Ten To Forty Per Cent. Without Increasing Acreage

Controlling the Red-Backed Cutworm

Poison Bait the Best Method to Combat This Pest in Field and Garden

For the poisoned bait to combat the red-backed cutworm in the prairie provinces, Mr. Kenneth M. King, of the entomological branch at Ottawa, recommends for field quantities a mixture consisting of 100 pounds of bran, four pounds of white arsenic finely ground (or 2 pounds of Paris green), one gallon of cheap cane molasses (blackstrap) and 7 to 8 gallons of water. For garden quantities he suggests a mixture o fone quart bran, one teaspoonful of white arsenic finely ground, one tablespoon of cheap cane molasses with sufficient water to moisten.

The dry bran and arsenic should be thoroughly mixed together and the operator should keep nose and mouth covered with a damp cloth. The molasses should then be dissolved in the water and the mixture slowly stirred into the poisoned bran until it is thoroughly moistened and free from lumps. Mr. King in his pamphlet on the red-backed cutworm, which is numbered 69 and can be had without cost on addressing the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, emphasizes this caution: Bags of poisoned bran should be kept out of reach of stock and children and empty bags that have been used for the bait should not again be used but immediately burnt. If mixing machines, such as were used in the grasshopper campaigns, are not available large tubs or a concrete floor will serve for preparing the bait.

Apple Shipments From B.C.

Ontario and Quebec Took Large Quantity From Okanagan

Export shipments of apples from the Okanagan Valley, British Columbia for the past season, included the following: 65 cars to Scandinavian countries, 8 cars to China, 29 cars to Germany, 4 cars to Newfoundland, 18 cars to South Africa, 42 cars to New Zealand, 55 cars to the United States and 405 cars to Great Britain. In addition, 108 cars were shipped to Ontario and Quebec, which are often considered as export markets. Distance is apparently no handicap when high-class products are for sale.

Agriculture throughout the Dominion seems to be far more secure now than for several years past. As a whole, it embraces one-third of the national wealth. So declared F. S. Archibald, director of Dominion experimental farms in an address at Ottawa. Mr. Archibald indicated a number of ways in which experiments are being made at the experimental farms, in an interesting talk on the future of agriculture in Canada.

"It is quite possible," he said, "that with no more acreage than the present 22,000,000 under wheat cultivation in Canada an increase of ten to forty per cent. in production may be secured."

With an increase of five bushels to the acre the enormous addition of 160,000,000 dollars might be made to the national revenue, he said.

Interesting Work With Trees

Clever Englishman Trains Them in Many Animal Shapes

For thirty years Mr. Cutbush, of Old Barnet, has been trying to make a dragon. He has made dogs, cocks and hens, birds, teddy bears, storks and peacock, and he is very proud of his handiwork, but his greatest desire is to make a dragon, a British lion and a tiger, but he cannot.

The material of Mr. Cutbush's art is not clay nor marble, but trees. His art, known as topiary, consists in training box and yew trees into the shapes he wants them.

They take years of care and patience, but Mr. Cutbush doesn't mind at all. He loves his garden of green animals, and tends them carefully as a mother her children.

Sometimes it has taken him fifteen years to grow one animal to perfection. The easiest ones take five years and the more difficult ones take at least ten. Many of them take longer to bring up and launch into the world than children, but before any attempt at training the tree into shape it must be from eight to twenty years old.

It is grown bigger than it will require to be when finished, and the branches are allowed to grow very freely. Then they are tied to wires and sticks into the shape they are to be, as nearly as possible. For a season they are left alone, and then at the beginning of the next season they are clipped.

Years are needed for the branches to fill out and become thick with more little branches and leaves. These are kept clipped, and every three years the growing animal is transplanted. When it is fully grown and a solid mass of green leaves it is carried away and starts its grown-up life in somebody's garden.

Mr. Cutbush feels more sadly about his dragon and his British lion.

"I do wish I could grow a lion," he says, "but it is impossible to get the mane, and if I grow a lioness she just looks like a dog."

Strawberries In Saskatchewan

New Grown in Commercial Quantities In Northern Part of Province

Strawberry growing in commercial quantities north of latitude 53, is the proud accomplishment of the Nipawin district. This plant has been successfully grown for the past 12 years, but owing to lack of transportation facilities until the autumn of 1924, when the Tulnel-Prince Albert extension of the Canadian Pacific Railway was completed, it did not become a commercial industry. In 1925 several thousand 24-quart cases were shipped, some of them finding their way as far as Winnipeg and Regina. This year the production is expected to be nearly double that of last season.

British Nursing Head Visits Canada

Dame Maud McCarthy, G.B.E., of London, England, who headed the British nursing forces in France during the World War, arrived recently at Quebec on the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland. This distinguished lady who has gained the title of "The Florence Nightingale in the World War," will attend the meeting of the Canadian National Association of Nurses in Toronto. Later she will go to Ottawa to deliver an address at the unveiling of a memorial to the nurses who served in the great war.

Dame McCarthy began her first outstanding war services during the South African war, 1899-1902. From 1905 to 1910 she was matron of Queen Alexandra's Imperial Military Nursing Service and until 1914 was principal matron of the Q.A.I.M.N.S., War Office. In 1914 she was appointed matron-in-chief of the Territorial Army Nursing Service.

In the above photograph, which was taken on board the SS. Empress of Scotland, Dame McCarthy is seen standing with Commander Latta beside the wheel house.

Canadian Pacific Express Company

Dominion Express Company Now No Longer Known By That Name

After forty-four years of operation during which it has grown up with the country and contributed in no small way to Canadian development, the Dominion Express Company will no longer be known by that name. After September first that great transportation agency will be known as the Canadian Pacific Express Company. In all parts of Canada and the United States and throughout the civilized world signs on the windows of the many hundreds of branch offices will be changed, and thus will be forged a still closer link with the great parent company whose railroad, steamships and hotels are known around the around.

To mark the change of name the company has issued an attractive little booklet giving a short history of its career and a synopsis of its present widespread activities. The Dominion Express Company was incorporated in 1873, but it was in 1882 that Mr. Van Horne, then president of the C.P.R., took it over as an operating part of the Canadian Pacific Railway. H. G. A. Kirkpatrick, later Sir George Kirkpatrick, Lt.-Gov. of Ontario, was its president, and Mr. W. S. Stout, a young but thoroughly experienced express man became its superintendent. Mr. Stout is today president and has for many years guided its fortunes in that capacity.

For some years he and his assistants had a hard and uphill fight. They not only moved traffic, but helped create it by finding Canadian and foreign markets for Canadian products, and by scientific rate making encouraging the farmer, fruit grower and others whose markets were far away. The growth of the company over these many years is an interesting story and it is an important chapter in the commercial history of this country and its present position where it is daily entrusted with hundreds of millions of dollars in goods and treasure by the public, business institutions and the government is a matter for justifiable pride. The booklet is handsomely illustrated and is being widely distributed wherever the company operates.

Miller's Worm Powders prove their value. They do not cause any violent disturbances in the stomach, any pain or griping, but do their work quietly and painlessly, so that the destruction of the worms is imperceptible. Yet they are thorough, and from the first dose there is improvement in the condition of the sufferer and a cessation of manifestations of internal trouble.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SEPTEMBER 12

GIFTS FOR THE TABERNACLE

Golden Text: Honor Jehovah with thy substance, and with the first-fruits of all thine increase. Proverbs 3:9.

Lesson: Exodus 35:4 to 36:7.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 84:1, 2, 8-12.

Explanations and Comments.

I. The Call For Contributions For the Sanctuary, Ex. 35:4-20.—Moses assembled the people and addressed them, probably from a raised platform. He reminded them that it was God's desire to have a sanctuary where he might meet them and they might offer him their worship. He called for voluntary contributions of materials and labor for the sanctuary and its equipment and for the vestments of the priests. There was one restriction: the givers of gifts must be "willing-hearted," and the laborers "wise-hearted." The people listened and quietly went back to their tents.

"You might have wondered whether they would return, since so little had been said to touch their emotions and arouse their enthusiasm. How different this seems to the methods in use today to extract money from reluctant hands!"

II. "An Old Subscription List," verses 21-29.—This heading is the happy title which Dr. Alexander Maclaren gives to his exposition of this chapter. "Let each man do according as he hath prospered in his heart," wrote Paul to the Corinthians; "not grudgingly or of necessity, for God loveth a cheerful giver." The men and women on this old subscription list fulfilled that injunction of Paul's. They came—a great crowd of willing givers, "every one whose heart stirred him up, and every one whom his spirit made willing," laden with gifts needed for the building of God's house and for "the holy garments," the garments consecrated for use in the sanctuary.

"The world asks, How much does he give. Christ asks, Why does he give?" (Dr. John R. Mott).

HALIFAX MAY BECOME A GRAIN SHIPPING PORT

Montreal.—Halifax may become a grain port, shipping some fixe or six million bushels of grain per season, if three loading berths are provided for the present elevator instead of the one berth there now. This was held out as a definite probability by representatives of the Canadian Wheat Pool at the royal commission investigating Maritime Provinces' matters.

The port, as provided for now, however, was presented in very drab colors so far as grain was concerned. It had not sufficient berth accommodation, steamer space was lacking, the experience of the pool in shipping some million bushels through there in the past year had not been favorable, and it was not known as a grain port.

D. L. Smith, general sales manager, and Albert Claire, traffic representative in Montreal, were the witnesses appearing for the Wheat Pool and they were subjected to close examination by the commission chairman, Sir Andrew Rae Duncan.

Five or six million bushels was given by Mr. Smith as the probable limit for the present to which Halifax could be used owing to the lack of liners making their terminals there. Some 70 per cent. of the pool's wheat went liner space, this type of accommodation being especially good because of the small lot buying done in Europe.

France Near Breaking Point With Russia

Trouble Arose Over Soviets Action Regarding Moscow Fair

Paris.—A controversy which may result in France breaking off relations with the Soviet of Russia is going on between Premier Raymond Poincare and Commissar Christian Rakovsky and is becoming more embittered daily. The trouble arose when the reds placarded Paris with posters announcing a gigantic international fair in Moscow the last of March, urging the French manufacturers to send their exhibits to be represented.

A number of concerns here leased stalls and show grounds through the commercial attache's bureau of the Soviet embassy, prepared the products for shipment to Russia to show at the fair and arranged their personnel to proceed to Moscow to take charge of the exhibits and take orders for the wares.

The Soviet Government then refused to grant passport visas or import licenses, so that the exhibitors were unable to participate. When the firms asked for reimbursement of the money paid in advance, the Soviets refused.

Vancouver Showing Rapid Development

Owes Much to Prairies Says President Of C.P.R.

Vancouver, B.C.—"British Columbia is more than realizing the progress prophesied for it during recent years, and Vancouver especially is developing rapidly. One of the contributing causes to the development is undoubtedly the improved conditions on the prairies during the past three years, and where this year, a better than average crop is practically assured." These were the statements made by E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, on his annual tour of inspection of the company's lines.

"No final estimate with regard to prairie crop have been made by the company as yet," continued Mr. Beatty, "but if weather conditions remain satisfactory for the next few weeks, I would be surprised if the total yield were less than 375,000,000 bushels."

Liberal Leader In Nova Scotia

Final Week of Campaign to be Spent in Ontario

Antigonish, N.S.—Surpluses in the public accounts, reductions in taxation, old age pensions and the constitutional issue were the matters dealt with by Mr. Mackenzie King here.

"What about Wall Street," called out someone who looked in through a window of the rink building for a moment.

"Isn't that a fine example of Tory tactics?" asked Mr. King.

"This fly-by-night shoves his head in a window, shouts and runs away."

Mr. King proceeded to say that the country as a whole prospered from the removal of considerable taxation this year.

The Liberal leader has concluded his campaign in Nova Scotia. In Port Hawkesbury, on Cape Breton Island, a terrific downpour drove the crowd to the town hall. Here in Antagonish-Guysboro constituency the crowd filled the curling rink at the meeting. Mr. King will hold two meetings on Prince Edward Island and he will start west again, stopping at Campbellton in New Brunswick and New Carlisle in Quebec.

The final week of the campaign will be spent in Ontario.

To Analyze Minerals Of Saskatchwan

No Gold Found In North Says Mining Engineer

Regina.—Completing a survey of the Lac la Ronge mineral area in Northern Saskatchewan, W. H. Hastings, mining engineer of the Saskatchewan bureau of labor and industries, has returned with several hundred pounds of samples for analysis.

Some of the minerals are: Pyrite, magnetite, copper sulphide, glass sand, fire clay, iron sand, coal and pyrrhotite. Several copper claims have been staked in the Sturgeon-Weir Rivers district.

Lack of transportation, said Mr. Hastings, was one of the chief problems in the opening up of the northern resources. Another was the failure to find silver or gold, the most valuable of the minerals, and prospectors fought shy of less valuable claims.

Contest In Prince Albert

Hon. Mackenzie King Will Be Opposed By J. E. Diefenbaker

Prince Albert, Sask.—Rt. Hon. W. L. M. King, leader of the Liberal party, will be opposed by J. E. Diefenbaker, Conservative, unsuccessful candidate in the election of 1925.

In a three-cornered contest last October, Mr. Diefenbaker was opposed by Charles MacDonald, the successful Liberal candidate and Andrew Knox, Progressive. The vote was MacDonald, 5,301; Diefenbaker, 2,412; Knox, 2,638.

Mr. MacDonald later resigned to make way for Mr. King, then premier, and in a by-election held Feb. 26, 1926, the Liberal leader defeated Captain D. L. Burgess, Independent, by a large majority. The vote was: Mr. King, 7,920; Capt. Burgess, 2,399.

Thousands Take Part In Diamond Rush

Population in Transvaal District Increased Overnight by Fifty Thousand

Johannesburg.—South Africa's latest diamond rush brought 15,000 persons, including 120 women in full running kit or bathing costumes, to a farm in the Transvaal district. Prospectors in one of the fields have already found diamonds worth $180,000.

Among the sprinters were several runners with good track records. One syndicate employed 30 university athletes as runners.

More than 25,000 claims were pegged out and the population of the district was increased from a few hundred to about 50,000 almost overnight.

Ammunition Seized In Mexico

Nogales, Ariz.—Twenty-five thousand rounds of ammunition have been seized by Mexican customs authorities in Nogales, Sonora, Mexico, across the border line from here. The ammunition was found in a touring car, driven by a man named Norosco, who is being held for a preliminary hearing.

NO CHANGE IN U.S. DEBT POLICY SAYS COOLIDGE

Paul Smiths, N.Y. — President Coolidge knows of no reason for making any change in the government policy toward the foreign war-time debts owed the United States.

All the great powers, with one exception, it was added, had funded their debts to the United States and it is apparent to Mr. Coolidge that France will adjust its debts in accordance with the agreement reached by its duly authorized representatives with United States officials.

The president, it was said, respects the sincerity, judgment and patriotism of Mr. Baker, yet he realizes it is sometimes easier for a person in private life who is no longer charged with the responsibility of administering public affairs, to suggest large expenditures of the taxpayers' money or payment of it out of the taxpayers' pockets.

Automobile Fatalities

Autos Have Killed 3,603 People In 78 U. S. Cities Since Beginning Of Year

Washington. — Automobiles have killed 3,603 persons in 78 of the country's large cities since the first of this year.

The greatest number of fatalities occurred in the four weeks ending June 19, when 549 were killed, according to figures gathered by the department of commerce covering four week periods.

For the four weeks ending Aug. 14 this year, the last reported, there were 497 fatalities, an increase over the same period last year, when 467 deaths occurred.

From May to December last year, the total number of automobile fatalities was 4,345, making a total from that time to August 14 this year of 7,948.

No Monopoly Of Union Jack

Hon. J. H. Thomas Speaks at Luncheon in Toronto

Toronto.—Saying that with a general election pending and that for that reason he would refrain from discussing politics and thus disappoint the press, Hon. J. H. Thomas, who was colonial secretary in the MacDonald Labor Government, delivered an address at the exhibition directors' luncheon here.

"No greater mistake was ever made," he said, "than to assume that the Union Jack, which has stood for Democratic Government and for the most Democratic constitution, is the monopoly of any class or creed."

Many Perish In Shipwreck

London.—One hundred and sixty passengers perished in the sinking of the steamer Burevestnik, says a Reuter's dispatch from Riga, Latvia, quoting official advices from Leningrad.

Says Conservative Star Rising

Premier Meighen Addresses Large Gathering in Montreal

Montreal.—Six to seven thousand people were assembled in the Forum when Premier Meighen addressed a meeting here. On the platform were distinguished visitors from every part of Canada. Sir Alfred Mond, member of Great Britain's cabinet under Lloyd George, was there with Lady Mond.

Premier Meighen received a great ovation. Different groups in the big hall gave him their songs and cheers. He began in French. His voice was hoarse at first, but steadied after a few minutes. He expressed confidence in the success of his party in the coming elections.

"The Conservative star is rising from the Atlantic to the Pacific," he said. Mr. Meighen spoke for about fifteen minutes in French.

Relapsing into English he said he must review within the compass of a single hour," problems which presented themselves for solution.

Mr. Meighen took up what he described as "the most vital of all topics, the tariff."

His fiscal policy, he said, was not different tonight from what it had always been.

"A stable tariff on a definite basis," was the policy of the Conservative party, he said, and having established a tariff he would "leave it there and give Canada a chance to grow."

"There will be no bargains made at the expense of the fundamental interests of Canada for the purpose of votes in the House of Commons," he added.

Moving Western Crop

Grain Movement From the West Is Now Under Way

Winnipeg.—The task of moving the annual grain crop of Western Canada has begun. The grain movement report of the car service department of the C.N.R. for August 30 shows 436 cars, loaded with 560,000 bushels, which is almost double that of the last report, August 28. Grain marketed totals 846,000 bushels and an increase of 278,000 bushels in storage at country elevators is also noted. The total now in storage in such elevators on the lines of the system amounts to 1,191,000. Most of the movement is taking place in Manitoba where shipping is well advanced, but the report also specifies a shipment of new grain from mileage 181.9 on the Oyen subdivision of the Alberta district for Fort Arthur and a similar shipment from the same point to Vancouver.

German Immigrants Top U. S. List

Washington, D.C. — Immigration quota figures, issued by the state department, show that the largest number of visas so far this fiscal year, which began July 1, have been issued to immigrants from Germany, with the Irish Free State second in the list, and Great Britain and Northern Ireland third.

The "Bride Ship Metagama" continues her successful career of ferrying Scottish brides across the Atlantic to Canada and U.S.A. Here is a happy group which sailed from Glasgow to Canada on the Canadian Pacific liner Metagama. Each bride was presented with a bouquet kindly sent by Sir Malcolm Campbell. Included in this group are: Miss M. J. R. Campbell, Edinburgh, to marry Mr. H. Peterson, Detroit, U.S.A.; Miss J. Beaton, Pais-ley, to marry Mr. D. Crawford, Windsor, Ont.; Miss M. J. ONE CANDIDATE IS ELECTED BY ACCLAMATION

Ottawa.—The election of U. P. Beaubien, Liberal-Progressive candidate in Provencher, Man., featured nominations in the 27 constituencies requiring additional time for voting arrangements. The election of Mr. Beaubien was due to the inability of representatives of his Conservative opponent, Dr. D. H. McFadden, to fill their candidate's papers before nominations closed as a result of muddy roads. Mr. Beaubien was elected as Progressive candidate last fall by a majority of 110.

Twenty-three straight party contests and three three-cornered fights will be held for the remaining 26 ridings. In Quebec, Saskatchewan and Yukon Territory straight party fights will be waged for all the seats. Three-cornered fights will be waged in Port Arthur-Thunder Bay, Peace River, Alta., and Springfield, Man.

Fifty-seven candidates in all were nominated. These include 25 Conservatives, 17 straight Liberals, 3 Liberal-Progressives, 1 Liberal-Labor, 1 Liberal-Labor-Progressive, 1 Liberal-Independent-Labor, 1 Progressive, 3 U.F.A., 4 Labor and 1 Independent.

Hail Insurance Rate Increased

Directors Municipal Association Decide On Extra Levy

Regina.—An extra levy of 14 cents per seeded acre in addition to the usual flat rate of 4 cents an acre on all land under the municipal hail insurance scheme was decided on by the directors of the Saskatchewan Municipal Hail Insurance Association at a recent meeting.

The heavy losses of the season so far, which to date amount to $1,266,000, were given as the reason for the additional levy. There is still a few days to run before the liability of the association ceases and to meet this a further $60,000 was provided. Thus, a total of $1,326,000 is to be collected from the farmers in municipalities subscribing to the scheme.

Of the individual municipalities in the association the one suffering the heaviest loss was Marquis with a total of $151,000.

British House Adjourns

Amendment For Meeting Earlier Than November 9 Was Defeated

London—A government motion that, when the House of Commons adjourned Aug. 31, it rise until November 9, was adopted by the house by a vote of 225 to 100.

Ramsay MacDonald, Labor leader, moved to amend, by substituting the date September 7, in view of meetings of the miners' delegate congress, after which he said the government might be able to get the two sides together.

Winston Churchill replied the government was perfectly free to summon parliament at any time conditions warranted.

The emergency regulations in view of the coal strike were continued for another month at last night's session.

Less Crime In Britain

Present Respect For Law In England Never Exceeded

Quebec.—Quebec welcomed to Canada Right Hon. Lord Darling, who has come on the invitation of the Canadian Bar Association, to address that organization during its annual convention, which will be held at St. John, N.B.

Asked if crime was on the increase or showed a tendency towards decreasing as compared with a few years ago, Lord Darling said he thought that as a whole the English people's respect for the laws of the land had never been as great as it was at present.

Britain May Oppose Mineowners

London.—Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, in an unusually temperate speech intimated, in the house, that the government might support a national settlement of the coal strike, even against the wishes of the mineowners, if the workers would be reasonable on the question of wages and hours.

Name Famous in Business History Is Merged With That of Great Railway

W. S. Stout
President of Canadian Pacific Express Co.

There is much of Canadian business history hidden behind the recently announced fact that the Dominion Express Company has changed its name to "Canadian Pacific Express Co."

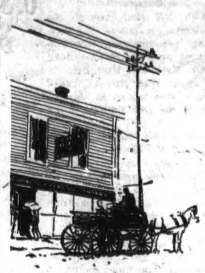
During almost half a century of service to Canada and the Canadian people the name of the old company has come to be a household word across the country, and it would be a regrettable fact that this old name should pass were it not for the fact that the institution it represents assumes a name even more closely identified with Canadian history and more widely representative abroad of the varied activities of Canadian life.

When forty-four years ago W. C. Van Horne, later Sir William, then vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, desired to place the express service on the company's lines in the hands of a regular express company, the Dominion Express Company which had been incorporated in 1873, was formed with W. S. Stout, a very young expressman as Superintendent. His job was to give service over Canadian Pacific lines, extending from Rat Portage, now Kenora in the east of Oak Lake in the west, a distance of 445 miles and he was able to carry on with a horse and second-hand wagon and seven agencies.

When the same Mr. Stout, who has for many years been president, announced the change of name a few days ago, that one horse and wagon and seven agencies had increased to over 4700 agencies scattered all over Canada and to the far corners of the earth while fleets of motor vehicles bearing the name of the company plied the streets of all the principal cities of the world, and the Dominion Express had established a name in financial and transportation circles that was universally honored. The change was made, Mr. Stout said, in the hope that in other countries where the name and services of the Canadian Pacific are better known and more extensively advertised and where, to a very large extent, the credit of Canada is one with that of the parent transportation system, such good-will as is held by the rail and steamship company will reflect to the advantage of the express company.

Mr. Stout and his few assistants had a hard up-hill fight in those early days. It is interesting to know that the president of a large express company in the United States turned down an opportunity to place his service on the Canadian Pacific because, in his opinion, the railway would shortly go under the auctioneer's hammer.

The new express company had not only to move traffic but to help create it. In those days the management was a free agent in naming rates. At that time, it was possible to and the company did make low rates to encourage the farmer, the fruit grower and the fisherman without great regard for the cost or the profit of the moment. It was also free from the necessity of extending unprofitable rates to others not requiring them, and had power to withdraw unprofitable rates when they had served the purpose for which they were made.



First general offices of the Dominion Express Co. Winnipeg 1882.

In 1884 operations were extended from Rat Portage to Port Arthur and a traffic route formed using steamers between Owen Sound and Prince Arthur's Landing as Port Arthur was then called. This arrangement continued until the eastern and western lines of the company were joined on the north shore of Lake Superior.

To develop traffic in advance of the laying of Canadian Pacific rails, the express company went ahead by means of wagon stage routes some of which served the public for a number of years. Shippers will recall the Ayr-Paris and Brantford route, which was opened in 1892 and continued as a stage route until 1903. Other stage routes in the east continued for twenty-five years and the same thing took place in the west where very frequently lake and river steamers took the place of the stage. It was in 1895 that the company first engaged in the money order business which has developed into a large part of its activities.

Here and There

Vancouver—All passenger records for outgoing ships to the Orient from the Pacific Coast up to the middle of August were shattered when Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia sailed for Yokohama, August 19, with a passenger list of all classes of 517 in addition to many members of the diplomatic and government services returning after vacations.

Diwan Bahadur Sir T. Vijayaraghavacharya arrived recently from London on Canadian Pacific liner Montcalm at Montreal, en route to Toronto where he will open the National Exhibition at Toronto. The Knight with the lengthy name gets over the difficulty for Canadian lips by stating that it is quite proper to address him as "The Diwan." He may tour other Canadian cities on leaving Toronto.

Banff Springs—"The last time I visited Banff was over 30 years ago and the trip this year has been a most wonderful revelation," said Brigadier-General H. S. Birkett, of Montreal, who stayed at the Banff Springs Hotel on his return from a trip to Alaska. This coincides with the opinion of Morley Roberts, famous English novelist, who after a forty year absence from the West, took part in the last Trail Riders expedition early in August.

Calgary—This city had an exciting moment recently when the Most Honorable the Marquis of Salisbury, leader of the British Conservative party in the House of Lords was made an Indian Chief of the Sarcees and given the name of "Eagle Plume." The ceremony was conducted with all solemnity, His Lordship kneeling on a blanket to receive the honor and being at the same time presented with a handsome beaded buckskin vest and gloves.

Beating the train to the crossing is always a risk in favor of the train but when a motorist halts his car and waits until an engine is almost alongside him before he tries to get over, then the risk becomes an absolute certainty, was just the motorist. This was the case recently in Toronto where a car was signalled to stop by the watchman at a crossing, obeyed the signal, and then decided he would still try and get over. Fortunately there were no injuries and the only sufferer was the automobile.

Pictures of Gertrude Ederle's swimming of the English Channel were sent aboard Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland at the last minute at Southampton and then passed to a waterplane near Anticosti and by it delivered to airplanes at Rimouski, thus beating other pictures speeding to New York on ocean liners by a full twenty-four hours. This is regarded as one of the cleverest and speediest methods of reaching this continent from Great Britain that has ever been successfully accomplished.

Members of the Empire Parliamentary Association, numbering twenty-one delegates from the Parliaments of the United Kingdom and the Irish Free State arrived in Canada recently on board Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland. They travelled across the Dominion from Quebec to Vancouver, stopping en route at Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. They sailed by S.S. Aorangi from Vancouver, August 25 for Sydney, Australia, where they will attend the Association Conference to be held in September and October.

Moslem Laws Are Strict

New Ones Issued Carry Severe Penalty For Violators

New commandments have been issued by Ibn Saud, leader of the strict Wahabi sect of Moslems and now master of a big Arab kingdom which includes the holy cities of Mecca and Medina. Attendance at the prayer services on Friday—the Moslem Sabbath—is made compulsory, while violators of the temperance laws are liable to six months' imprisonment. Severe punishment is to be meted out to distillers or vendors of strong drink, a second offence being punishable by deportation. The use of tobacco is also an offence punishable with imprisonment, and anti-religious agitators will be severely dealt with. Public security officials have been given full authority to enforce these regulations.

"There!" the woman on the cushions exulted: "You are delightful again, as you always are when you're trapped. Now I shall sip my drink, if I may, while you proceed to your cross examination. See? I am careless of my wits; I expose them to the same whiskey."

"Satire becomes you, wonderfully," he said regarding her as with a deep sense of appreciation. "Someday a master painter will parody the Madonna with you as his model, and give the world a new masterpiece. Your lips are set just right for him, now." Presently I shall drink a toast especially to everything that isn't Madonna-like about you, since I can do that better than paint. Meanwhile, I admit to being curious. Mind you, only curious. What are you going to do with—or to—the girl?"

"Do you think an impulse of last night, born of my own thrill at the riot that must be going on in her mind, must necessarily be so definite as that? With some hidden motive behind it?"

He did not at once reply. His thoughts seemed to have wandered off for a moment. When he spoke again his tone had lost all veneer of banter. "I do not believe you ever surrendered to an impulse in your life," he said, his words studiously measured. "There can be nothing in common between you and this girl who has no other masque than her own natural vividness. She's more likely to be a thorn than a foil. So you have a motive as clearly defined as the pretense you are trying to bring into your eyes."

Yvonne treated him to her silvery laugh and would have interrupted him, but he went on, calmly; "Brandon is obviously playing a game. I am convinced that he knows where her money came from and why, despite his elusiveness. And I am convinced, too, that you do not, yet you deliberately spin a web for the girl and play spider to the fly. Why?"

"Jove," young Dormister exclaimed, "what a pretty girl!"

If he thought to provoke the woman he cross examined, Kenilworth was disappointed. She studied him coolly. "I'm not so sure my whiskey dulled your wits after all," she observed. "You argue beautifully. I shall give you your triumph. I have a motive. As clearly defined as you picture it. As for the girl herself, I shall probably like her tremendously, though that is of no importance. And it doesn't follow, necessarily, that my motive means evil to her. That will be up to her."

"There's going to be quite a lot put up to her, I should imagine," Kenilworth agreed. "You simply give her an added problem. How does Brandon associate in your plotting?"

"Now, Roddy, I didn't guarantee to go into details. There aren't any, yet. You may be unperturbed, however. Brandon wanted me to ask her to come to tea. He doesn't know why I consented—and you won't either, until you discover for yourself. Now then, I'm going to uncurl my legs and come out of my female Hindu goddess pose. It's becoming uncomfortable. So I shall be pondering evil no longer. You observe I do not ask you what your intentions are toward my ward, as I should, but that is because I'll see for myself. I know your procedure perfectly."

He gave her his hand and helped her to her feet. "I have a sense of being completely baffled," he remarked, ruefully. "I learn only what I already knew, and nothing more, except—"; suddenly his tone altered. "Except that you would torture every living thing and wreck every castle that was ever built in the air if Brandon would hold out his hand to you!"

"That," she retored, "is the highball. Perhaps I had better change my brand of Scotch after all." But when Kenilworth had gone Yvonne dropped into the nearest chair. Had he returned and studied her, at any time luring the next half hour, he would have concluded that there could be no doubt about it this time. She pondered.

It was late in the afternoon when Walker stood behind his mistress, who was serving tea to a small company of men and women around the same stone table, in the winter garden, on which Kenilworth had perched himself earlier in the day. "The mademoiselle who is expected has arrived," the butler murmured.

Yvonne rose at once. "I shall be back in time for a cigaret, at least," she added to her excuses. She crossed her drawing room, from its entrance into the winter garden, just in time to see Teddy Dorminster, the one who was born a lord but could persuade no one to consider the coincidence seriously, come to a standstill before the slight, girlish figure that stood directly in his path from the reception hall, where he had just turned over his coat and stick to Walker, across the room to the garden. Teddy Dorminster kept none of his secrets or his enthusiasms to himself. He brought a new store of both on his daily droppings in at Yvonne's—her's was, in a measure, a continuously open house when she was in town.

The newcomer stared into Joanna's face frankly. He fumbled in his pocket and produced his eye glass, which he carefully screwed into his eye. Then he scrutinized her again, utterly oblivious to her equally unabashed stare at him.

"Jove!" young Dorminster exclaimed. "What a pretty girl!" Yvonne was in time to hear Joanna's reply:

"How in the world did you ever happen?"

CHAPTER XIV.

Across the Threshold

Both Joanna and Lord Teddy were startled by Yvonne's peal of laughter. "Now, Teddy, you know what everybody thinks when you're around," she declared. "You must really make up an answer some time." Turning to Joanna, she informed her: "He's not always so bad-mannered, you know. I fancy you'll get along famously. I'll present him as Lord Dorminster, but you must just call him Teddy—it fits him better." To the man, who struck Joanna as something of an overgrown youth, she added: "This is my new portege, one I'm going to be very fond of—Miss Manners. After awhile you'll be calling her Joanna."

Lord Teddy was all embarrassment and contrition. "Oh, I say!" he fumbled, "I thought it would be someone who—ah—you were having to sing or dance, or do something like that, you know tomorrow night perhaps! Didn't know she was a friend. "Sorry, terribly!"

Joanna who had scant ideas of what one does at a meeting with a lord, even a Teddy sort of one, scrambled desperately for what she would have termed, concisely, the right comeback. She was disturbed, too, by that apology for supposing her as one who had come to sing, or to dance, "or something like that. It implied something, she didn't know what, but something about her that was not as it should be. Yvonne shot a frown at Dorminster and went to her rescue.

"Run along now, Teddy," she commanded. "There's tea or alcohol, whichever you prefer, in the garden. You know everybody in there. Miss Manners will remember, anyhow, that you were perfectly in earnest despite your rudeness."

He wanted to add something to his apology to straighten it out, but Yvonne bustled him off unceremoniously. To Joanna she said:

"He's a dear, is Teddy. He follows me around the world. He says wherever I am some husband's wife needs consolation and it's his duty to be on hand. And he declares he's perfectly sincere about it."

Fret not, poor soul, while doubt and fear
Disturb thy breast;
The pitying angels, who can see

Strive not, nor struggle; thy poor might

The meanest thing to serve thy will,
All power is His alone; be still,
And trust, and rest.

Do you know what Luther said? "Suffer and be still, and tell no man thy sorrow; trust in God. His help will not fail thee." This is what Scripture calls keeping silence before God. To talk much of one's sorrows makes one weak; but to tell one's sorrows to Him who heareth in secret, makes one strong and calm.—Tholuck.

The Old-Fashioned Grandmother

London Newspaper Finds There Is No Such Person Now

A one-day's search by a London newspaper for the old-fashioned grandmother who is usually pictured as sitting quietly darning socks by the fireside, has failed completely. The inquirer compiled a list of seven grandmothers, and then set out to find out what they were doing.

No. 1 was in Paris buying frocks.

No. 2 had recently acquired a two-seater automobile and had driven up into the Midlands to see her son's sons.

No. 3 had gone into the country to make a political speech in her son's constituency.

No. 4 had gone to a matinee.

No. 5 was out buying some new valves for the radio set.

No. 6 was out getting her hair shingled.

No. 7 had gone to a tea dansant at a big hotel.

Suicide at Spruce Grove.

On going to the horse barn at the rear of the Spruce Grove hotel Tuesday morning Mr Lattimer was surprised to see the lifeless body of a man protruding from under the manger in one of the stalls. A closer examination showed that the man had apparently committed suicide by blowing the top of his head off with a repeater shotgun found at his side. The face was unrecognizable, and it was surmised it was some stranger.

Officer Smith was notified, and he and Coroner Oatway proceeded to the scene. On examination, it was found to be the body of Leo A ("Bill") Langer, who had recently been in the employ of the local hotel.

"Bill," as he was familiarly called, was well known in Stony Plain, having been in the employ of a local firm for about two years, and left Stony on August 5th last.

"Bill" was a light hearted, jolly young man, and had a host of friends in every community in which he lived; was a prominent figure at all the dances, and is said to have been a great favorite with the ladies.

There seems to be a mystery in connection with his sudden taking off, and his numerous friends were pained to hear of his rash act. The Coroner deemed an inquest not necessary.

No person coming forward to claim the body, it was taken charge of by the Spruce Grove Municipal authorities, and the remains were interred in the Pioneers' graveyard, east of the Grove, on Tuesday evening.

THE WHEAT POOL AND TRADING IN FUTURES

In the Chicago Price Current Grain Reporter, the organ of the Chicago Grain Trade, there appeared early in August an article referring to the delivery of three million bushels of wheat on the last day of July by the Pool to cover sales made on the July option. The Central Selling Agency of the Canadian Pools felt at the time that the article was not worth much attention. Recently, however, it has appeared as a paid advertisement in the form of a news item in practically all of the Western Canadian weekly newspapers. This advertisement was sent out by a general advertising agency already set up in stereotype plate forms with the following instructions to the newspapers:

"Do not add printers' or advertising marks of any kind to the plate."

In view of this organized effort to misrepresent the transaction to the farmers of the west, the following facts are hereby given:

On July 1st the Sales Department of the Canadian Pool knew of the existence of a short interest in July wheat. July is the one month in the year when there is the least actual wheat, owned by either the grain trade or the farmers, available for delivery and when attempts are most frequently made on the part of speculators to squeeze the market. It soon became evident that an attempt of this sort was to be made. The Pool had in store a fair quantity of No. 3 Northern wheat for which there was no immediate export sale, in competition with which on the world market there was a considerable quantity of No. 2 Hard Winter wheat from the United States which was selling at from 18 to 22 cents under Canadian No. 1 Northern wheat. This situation at a corner soon forced the price of July wheat up to a point where the Pool felt they should sell some of their wheat, especially as they were able to sell No. 3 Northern wheat at around 10 cents per bushel over the price at which No. 2 Hard Winter wheat was being sold. The "long" interests in July wheat acted apparently on the assumption that the Pool would not step into the market at this time and they were, therefore, naturally surprised when, instead of being able to force a cash settlement with the "short" interests at the close of the month, they were faced with the actual delivery of this wheat. With the expiration of the July option and the pricking of the bubble, the men who had attempted to squeeze the market found themselves with a large quantity of wheat on hand which they had bought at the inflated July prices and which they would now be compelled to dispose of in competition with the American wheat. In the meantime the Pool had obtained for its members a very good price for their wheat.

The Pool is charged in the article referred to with having depressed the market by the delivery of this wheat, yet, as a matter of fact, No. 1 Northern wheat is at the time of writing trading slightly above the price at which it stood on July 1st. The statement is also made that the Pool had been throwing wheat on the market during the month of July in quantities which had checked advances. This statement is also disproved by the actual figures. On July 2nd the price was $1.49⅝, on July 31st it was $1.59⅛ and the high point reached between these dates was $1.62⅛.

The charge is also made that the Pool is speculating in futures contrary to its expressed principles. The fact is that the Pool takes advantage of every available market to dispose of the farmers' wheat and on this occasion it happened that the attempted corner gave the Pool an opportunity to sell a quantity of wheat which they had actually at their disposal at a price which was temporarily higher than other markets offered. The Pool was not selling paper wheat with the object of buying it in again at a lower price, which is the method of the speculators, but was disposing of farmers' grain which they had for sale.

These are the facts of the operation and show that the "long" interests in July wheat lost out in their efforts to rig the market for their own benefit, while the Pool had succeeded in marketing, at a very satisfactory price, a large quantity of wheat.
